

Disclaimer of Liability

The Mahfood Group LLC (TMG) reminds and cautions users of this website that the information supplied on this website is for general information purposes only.

TMG must and does disclaim any liability or responsibility for adverse outcomes or consequences which may be experienced by persons who improperly use or rely upon the documents or information obtained from this website or any linked pages without first consulting with TMG to obtain the benefit of competent, professional analysis by TMG personnel.

Your particular situation and needs may be and probably are significantly different from the real life or hypothetical situations reported or discussed on this website, or in the linked pages and resources. A fully informed, trained professional is your best ally to have on your team to deal with complicated environmental laws and regulations, with the scientific sophistication to meet the challenge effectively.

Primarily, TMG expects this web page to assist you in recognizing the substantial value of competent professional review and analysis in assessing a broad spectrum of environmental issues, and then developing a comprehensive strategy to remediate or, most importantly, avoid hazards. Secondly, TMG wants this web page to acquaint you with their trained professionals who are available for consultation.

If you have any questions, The Mahfood Group welcomes your inquiries and can be reached at 412-221-5056 or info@themahfoodgroup.com